Introduction

This Norwalk Lockwood family descends from Capt. Eliphalet Lockwood, assistant commissary officer in the Revolutionary War, and his wife Susannah St. John, through their sons William and Buckingham St. John Lockwood. They were merchants, landowners and bankers. Among the allied families were Hawley, Selleck and St. John, Ayres and Lawrence. They are distant cousins of LeGrand Lockwood who built the palatial home now preserved as the Lockwood-Mathews Mansion Museum.

The collection consists primarily of correspondence and documents, along with numerous photographs stored separately. Additional donations by Manice DeForest Lockwood Jr. and his cousin Julia B. Lockwood are housed at the Norwalk Historical Society Museum, in a building built and donated to Norwalk by these cousins.

Description and finding aids created by the staffs of Lockwood House, Norwalk Museum, and Norwalk History Room of the Norwalk Public Library, 1976-2016.
